Wescoat is director of excavations in the Sanctuary of the Great Gods on the Greek island of Samothrace, the original home of the Winged Victory, The Winged Return known as the Nike Nee-kay. This kind of interplay between a statue and the space conjured up would become a common device in baroque and romantic art, about two thousand years later.

Modern excavations suggest that the Victory occupied a niche above a theater and also suggest it accompanied an altar that was within view of the ship monument of Demetrius I Poliorcetes – The Winged Return. Artwork and objects were packed for removal to locations deemed more safe outside Paris for safekeeping [18].
